

LITTLE WILLIE DIES FROM SERUM TREATMENT

Once upon a time, not so very long ago, a boy was born and they named him Willie. It not being cultured or fashionable and it being detrimental to the wearing of corsets and participation in social functions, this boy's mother did not nurse him, but he was put on the bottle. Fortunately, a learned scientist had discovered how to pasteurize milk, so that the boy did pretty well on most any old cow's milk.

When this boy was two years old, he caught the whooping cough. Fortunately, Professor Bordet, of Brussels, had discovered that anti-toxin serum from a cat would cure whooping cough, and some cat serum was injected into Willie.

Soon after Willie got about again he was taken with the measles. Fortunately, Dr. John P. Anderson, of Washington, had discovered that anti-toxin serum from a monkey would cure the measles. So, they pumped the monkey serum into the boy, and the measles didn't kill him.

One day Willie was playing with his pet terrier, when the dog scratched him. So his folks, fearing hydrophobia in its worse form, rushed him down to New Jersey, where there is a great institute in honor of Professor Pasteur, who, fortunately, discovered that anti-toxin serum from a dog was a fine thing for rabies. They pumped dog serum into little Willie for two months.

Willie pulled through nicely, but on the way home, rode a Pullman sleeper in which a smallpox case had been discovered. Fortunately, Dr. Jenner had discovered that anti-toxin serum from a cow would cure smallpox, and so, on getting home, they shot some cow serum into Willie's arm.

Well, Willie lived along until he was ten years old when, one night, his folks were sent into a panic by discovering that he had black diphtheria. Fortunately, a noted physician had discovered that anti-toxin serum from a horse would cure diphtheria, if anything would, and so they gave Willie some horse serum, hypodermically.

Finally, at 40 years of age, Willie was taken with a mysterious malady. None of the doctors could tell definitely what it was. At last, as Willie was very low, a very learned scientist from a great eastern institute visited him and pronounced it "general debility." "But, cheer up, my man!" said the scientist. "I have here an anti-toxin from—"

"No more menagerie in mine," sighed Willie. "Life has been but one blamed serum after another." Whereupon he turned over and died, much to the regret of the scientist, who felt sure that he was to enrich medical science with another great discovery, since he was about to try serum from a hen and from an alligator on "general debility."

We don't know that there's any moral to this story. There is a lot of God's truth to it anyhow. — TOLEDO NEWS-BEE

SOME CURIOUS OLD FACTS OF YE OLD TYME

Old records brought to light give some interesting figures of many years ago. Cows were quoted in 1837 at $7 to $10; horses, $25 to $40; hogs, a head, $1.25 to $1.50; a nice veal calf sold for 75 cents; eggs, 3 cents a dozen, and deer hams at 25 cents each. You could get a man to work for you from sunrise till dark at from 10 to 12 cents a day, and he accepted pay in pelts, hides, twists of tobacco, wild honey or yarn mitts. — Louisiana Mo., Press-Journal.

PIKE CO. TEACHERS AVERAGE $340 PER YEAR

The estimate value of the 115 school building in the county is $163,110. There are 96 buildings for white pupils, 18 for colored pupils containing 162 rooms, making 162 teachers who are engaged in teaching the children in the public schools of Pike. Last year $12, 115.62 was paid to the male teachers, $41,991.75 to the female teachers, an average of $340 to each teacher.

Many of the schoolhouses were repaired last year and three new buildings erected.

As a rule there is harmony and interest among directors and where this exists, progress in the school is inevitable. In 66 districts there are fair libraries and the pupils are pursuing some kind of valuable reading, but these need increasing and if the boards fail to appropriate the amount as specified each year, that board is not complying with the provisions of the law. This year there will be but few schools of less than eight months' duration and enrollment should be greater because of the new features of the compulsory law. Prosecuting Attorney Blair will investigate violations of this statute which requires pupils between 8 and 16 to attend school the first three-fourths of the school term.

The schools belong to every citizen and should have his attention as well as his stock, his lands and even his church. — Louisiana Press Journal.
